MARK SCHEME for the March 2016 series

0417 INFORMATION AND COMMUNICATION TECHNOLOGY

0417/21

Paper 2 (Practical Test A), maximum raw mark 80

This mark scheme is published as an aid to teachers and candidates, to indicate the requirements of the examination. It shows the basis on which Examiners were instructed to award marks. It does not indicate the details of the discussions that took place at an Examiners' meeting before marking began, which would have considered the acceptability of alternative answers.

Mark schemes should be read in conjunction with the question paper and the Principal Examiner Report for Teachers.

Cambridge will not enter into discussions about these mark schemes.

Cambridge is publishing the mark schemes for the March 2016 series for most Cambridge IGCSE[®] and Cambridge International A and AS Level components.

® IGCSE is the registered trademark of Cambridge International Examinations.

Candidate name and number

The construction village will be developed as a residential leisure centre and will provide winter sports activities as well as outdoor adventure pursuits. This should bring longterm prosperity to the region without changing the essential character of the landscape.

Traditional water supplies have not been cut off by the building of the dam. Spillways are built into the sides of the dam to allow water to continue down the old river courses so that villages downstream do not lose their water supplies as a result of this modernisation project. However, the constant dangers of annual flooding will be minimised.

Benefits of the project

Water has now been flowing to the new supply systems for drinking water piped to villages and homes. No longer will people have to trek long distances daily to wells to draw water. The old traditions of washing clothes in the streams will no longer be necessary. Water will be safe to drink and childhood diseases will be reduced.

Farming has already begun to be productive with regular and reliable irrigues systems. New and modern farming projects have been introduced to produce fruit and vegetables for market, increasing local per capita income considerably.

Hydroelectricity generation

Built into massive tunnels under the dam is a power station which is now ready to start supplying electricity to the grid. As the grid develops, power will be distributed to some 50,000 homes. Many of these will receive mains electricity for the first time. New factories are being built and these will draw their power from the clean energy of the hydroelectric station. New employment opportunities will grow for those who wish to change their lives into a manufacturing environment.

Centre number

We are delighted to announce that this stage of the hydroelectric station is now complete and commissioned ready to start generating power. It was officially opened by the Minister of State for the Environment at a ceremony last Tuesday.
